

crucial
The Memory Experts™

Run the Crucial™ System Scanner to find out what type of memory you have installed.

TECH TIPS

TIP #388

TRY IT >>

jobs property motors business search

NEWS.scotsman.com

Site Web Google Custom Search Search

Home News Sport Business Your Say Newspaper Health Info Money

Scotland UK Politics International Environment Health Transport Education Entertainment Gaelic Opinion Obituaries Odd Heritage Living Reviews Columnists Blogs Video & Podcasts Archive Email Newsletters Whisky Advertise

Thursday, 23rd September 2010

- Sections
  - Latest News
  - Scotland
    - North East
    - Edinburgh, East and Fife
    - Glasgow and West
    - Tayside and Central
    - Inverness and Highlands
    - South
  - UK
  - International
  - Politics
  - Sci-Tech
  - Health
  - Education
  - Transport
  - Environment
  - Arts
  - Entertainment
  - Opinion
  - Obituaries
  - Odd
  - Gaelic
  - Article Index
- Other Sections
  - Supplements
- Topics
  - Topics A-Z
- Other Sites
  - The Scotsman
  - Scotland on Sunday
  - Evening News
  - Heritage & Culture
  - Living
  - Dating
  - Announcements
  - Money
  - Scotsman Shop
  - Scotsman Hotels
  - Fantasy Golf
  - Photos Today
  - Local Pages
  - Edinburgh Festivals
  - Whisky
- Elsewhere
  - On Twitter
  - On Facebook
- What's this?

Jane Bussman - Bussman's Holiday

Published Date: 10 August 2006

By TOM MAXWELL

ASSEMBLY @ ST GEORGE'S WEST

JANE BUSSMAN doesn't shy away from difficult subjects. In 2001 she was involved in one of the most controversial programmes in the history of British television - the Brass Eye special on paedophilia.

Her writing pedigree is considerable. Among other series, she has worked on South Park, The Fast Show and Smack the Pony. She is also a well-known magazine and newspaper columnist, regularly interviewing the likes of Britney Spears and Ashton Kutcher.

"I've worked my entire adult life doing something completely useless," she says. With this in mind, she set off to war-torn Uganda in the hope of making a difference. There she discovered a horrific world of kidnap and brutality she couldn't even begin to imagine.

The question with Bussman's Holiday, her first live show, was whether someone of such obvious writing talent could cut it as a performer. The answer in Bussman's case is a resounding yes.

Like Dave Gorman, she makes excellent use of photos, videos and soundbites to illustrate her adventure.

The story is fascinating as well as funny, although at times you sense Bussman's humour will appeal more to women.

While she recounts several horrendous incidents concerning Uganda's problems with disease, poverty and murder, a sharp line is never far away.

Directed by Sally Phillips (I'm Alan Partridge, Smack the Pony), Bussman's Holiday is a well constructed and extremely watchable piece of storytelling.

• Until August 28

ADVERTISEMENT

More than 50 wines at half price

WINE festival

Evening News

- Email a friend
- Print article
- Increase text size
- Decrease text size
- Be the first to comment on this article...

More Edinburgh Festival Fringe

- Tim Cornwell: Arts community has a fight on its hands
- A 'kamikaze kitsch cabaret' and sex-trade drama scoop Festival awards
- Steve Cardownie: Festivals need our support in hard times
- Theatre and cabaret shows win Festival Fringe Prize
- Festival ticket sales boom? It's all show
- Edinburgh festivals face cash crisis as SNP can't commit to Expo Fund
- Analysis: Free and paid admissions are two different things
- The rise of the Fringe freebie show
- Kenneth Walton: More than enough room for both International and Fringe festivals in Edinburgh in August
- Orchestras' holidays 'mean we can't move closer to the Fringe' says Mills
- Festival in the Sky fails to hit a high note with diners
- Andrew Eaton: The hot topics of the Edinburgh Festival
- Edinburgh Festival Fringe 2010: Bigger, better and still the greatest show on earth
- Festival diary: Big names of comedy do it for laughs - and for Karen
- Mixed reviews, as some venues boom and others struggle to fill seats

More Edinburgh Festival Fringe >>

Today's Vote

Do you fancy the Fringe play where the audience have to wear blindfolds?

- Yes, it would be a good workout for my other senses
- Think I'll wait for the reviews
- No, thanks, sounds like another Fringe gimmick

Vote Now >>

Web Links:

- Edinburgh Festival Fringe

crucial
The Memory Experts™

TECH TIPS

Your computer RAM runs only as fast as your slowest memory module.

TIP #388

McAfee

UP TIME

FREE

MILLISECONDS

Page 1 of 1

Last Updated: 10 August 2006 12:44 PM
Source: Edinburgh Evening News
Location: Edinburgh
Related Topics: Edinburgh Festival Fringe

Bookmark:

Del.icio.us Digg Facebook reddit StumbleUpon

Comment on this Story
In order to post comments you must Register or Sign In

RSS Feed of this article's comments
Delivery formats: RSS, Atom, Javascript & Email

New Year, Hogmanay Lodges
Beautiful Highland Estate close to Comrie Flambeaux. Weekly Bookings.
www.monzevald.co.uk

Edinburgh Vacation Flat
Rent a holiday flat in Edinburgh City Centre. Quality but affordable www.marymcqueen.co.uk/eva/

£39/Hr Job - 127 Openings
Bristol Mum Makes £4,397/M, Easy Computer Work, Get Free Info.
www.wahm.co.uk

Ads by Google

